When Legacy Circle members Steven T. Erickson, CPA, and Steven P. Degenhardt were asked to consider Angel View as part of their estate planning, "The decision was easy," they said, "The answer was YES!" The duo feels strongly that Angel View "is one of the most fiscally responsible organizations in the valley, spending more than 92 cents of every dollar raised on programs that help children and adults with disabilities reach their maximum potential."

The couple has been involved with Angel View for 10+ years as avid donors and fundraisers. Erickson is also a former board member. They've supported Angel View's group homes, which provide 24-hour care to clients, and helped grow the Outreach Program, which assists local children with disabilities. "Now," they add, "our future Legacy Circle contributions will help ensure Angel View can carry out its mission for generations to come."

It's easy to help secure Angel View's future. Just call Director of Development Duke Graham at (760) 835-0464, or email dgraham@angelview.org. As a 501(c)(3) not for profit organization, all gifts to Angel View are tax deductible as allowed by law.
